Our Smoking Shelter designs are already a familiar site in many public areas in Britain, but new developments are constantly on the drawing board. To help you keep on the right side of new legislation, here are some of our readily adaptable 'high fliers'...

THE BEAUFORT

This versatile and robust shelter sits comfortably in the built environment and provides a cost-effective choice for public locations. Its fully welded box-section steel frame and 5mm PET polyester glazing with UV protection provides a spacious and open feel, while the choice of available dimensions (length 2-4m, width 1-2m) allows it to fit neatly into any surroundings.

THE WELLINGTON

This truly modular shelter can be specified to meet the requirements of a smoking shelter or simply add panels to create a superb waiting shelter. With all uprights firmly secured at or below ground level and with the advantage of full height PET polyester glazing, this shelter is the ideal choice for maximum all-weather protection.

THE LANCASTER

With its distinctive, curving design and 'open' feel, the Lancaster combines excellent visibility with good ventilation and weather protection. Its strong steel sections and large expanse of UV protected PET polyester glazing make it suitable for seating, standing or short stops for smokers on the move.

BESPOKE SHELTERS AND CANOPIES

Shelters can be made to match your exact requirements, providing a smoking area and improving facilities. Canopies and covered walkways will enhance and complement the building whilst providing shelter to your clients. With simplicity of design we can add a strong and attractive feature to complement virtually any building scheme.

PSF's state-of-the-art production and finishing equipment, including automated de-greasing, iron phosphate pre-treatment and electro-static powder coating, ensures superior rust protection and surface finish. Full technical details of our finishing processes are available on request.

All stainless steel products are manufactured from 316 grade stainless steel and are polished to the required surface finish.
